MAY RECOVER FOR DAMAGE

The old question of the recovery for damages to crops by animals running over unfenced land is the subject of an opinion written by Attorney General Frank W. Clancy for Salomon Gernal, justice of the peace at Maxwell, Colfax county. After stating that Chapter 70 of the Laws of 1909 provides that an owner of land damaged by livestock cannot recover unless he has his land and crops enclosed by a legal fence, Mr. Clancy says:

"Notwithstanding this statute, I am of opinion, based upon a decision of the supreme court of the United States that under some circumstances a person so injured, might recover his damages. That decision of the supreme court was in a case from Colorado where there was a similar fence law to ours and the court declared that fence laws do not authorize wanton and wilful trespass, nor do they afford immunity to those who, in disregard for property rights, turn loose their cattle under circumstances showing that they were intended to graze upon the lands of another, and that such laws are not intended to condone trespasses by straying cattle and have no application to cases where cattle are driven upon unfenced land in order that they may feed there."

WILSON AND BRYAN

The President is a thinker. Mr. Bryan is a talker. The former appeals to the intellect and the latter to the emotions. The President out-classes Bryan as a rhetorician, but Bryan is the better phrase maker. The President is inclined to a judicial temperament and Mr. Bryan cultivates the sensational. The former argues from the logical standpoint like a professor in college and the latter from the emotional standpoint, like a speaker on the stump, says Leslie's.

Bryan's advocacy of the utterly indefensible delusion of free silver shows to what lengths he will go when he is filled with the conceit of a great discovery. He is all the more dangerous because he insists that he is sincere. It was sincerity, he says, that compelled him to betray Champ Clark at the Baltimore convention; to make a public declaration in favor of the national ownership of railroads; to advocate free silver, and to persist in the effort to divide the American people into masses and classes.

It is better to be famous than rich, but we'd rather be both.

BUSINESS PICKING UP

The movement of cantaloupes from California to the Eastern market is proving heavier than expected and is making business lively for the Rock Island and the Dalhart Ice & Electric Co., which has the contract for icing the cars. Ninety-six cars were iced one day this week and the other days have not been far behind. Tuesday the record of the ice company's office showed that 1,161,400 pounds of ice had been used during the seven days preceding. It was estimated a few days ago that the Imperial Valley cantaloupe crop would not amount to over 1500 cars, experts declaring that continued rains had caused the vines to sucker out and not put on fruit. On account of this information the local ice company quit storing ice and as a result will be forced to ship in ice to handle the 3,000 car crop which is now expected. The plant's loss during the stoppage was over 600 tons.—Dalhart Texan.

When a man is a man he is useful to other men. Otherwise he is just a carcass.

Stop a minute. Go to the glass. Smile! And you are a better and a happier man than you were before.

The man who bespatters other men with mud is worse than the mud that he slings.

This war will be a godsend to all American heiresses. The crop of impoverished noblemen will be quite sufficient to go round.
